

16TH ANNUAL FALL SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Annual Fall Social Work Conference affords an opportunity to bring national speakers along with the latest research to child welfare practitioners in Alabama. Through the Title IV-E partnership between the Alabama Department of Human Resources, the Alabama Higher Education Consortium on Child Welfare and The University of Alabama School of Social Work, we are able to host the conference with a focus on a different aspect of public child welfare every year. The 16th Annual Fall Social Work Conference will focus on the theme "Well-Being: Seeing the Big Picture." Workshops will continue the discussion of issues related to child well-being as well as workforce well-being.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This conference is designed with the public child welfare workforce in mind but would be beneficial to anyone working with at-risk children and their families, especially the following:

- School social workers
- Therapists
- Foster parents
- Child placing agencies

KEYNOTE SPEAKER AMELIA FRANCK MEYER

Meyer is the founder and CEO of Alia: innovations for people and systems impacted by childhood trauma. Alia provides deep-dive systemic interventions, training, consultation, demonstration projects, and leadership coaching to transform child welfare. Meyer leads a national movement to create a child welfare system across the country where all people can thrive, and works to promote innovative ideas to radically rethink child welfare.
